Suggestions for Caring for Yourself and Loved Ones

- Acknowledge your thoughts and emotions. It is common to experience a wide range of emotions following a disaster. Avoid self-talk about what you “should” be feeling.
 - Reach out to family, friends, and community. Talk with trusted people in your life about how you are doing. Seek support from your community and faith-based resources, if applicable.
 - Set boundaries around when and how often you consume media. Constant access to news and social media means that we can easily become overloaded by bad news. You might make a conscious choice not to watch the news right before bedtime. You might decide to leave your phone charging in another room, so you don’t check social media during a meal, at work, or from bed. You may want to set a timer and limit access to newsfeeds to limited blocks of time.
 - Identify things within your scope of influence. It is easy to feel helpless in overwhelming situations, so it can be useful to focus on what you can do. How can you most directly and positively make an impact? This could include actions like donating to a credible relief organization, checking in on someone you feel concerned about or volunteering with a relevant cause or group.
 - Take care of your physical health. Remember to move yet be conscious of the air quality that surrounds you. It’s not just that exercise can help us feel physically better. Trauma tends to “get stuck” in our bodies and choosing to move can help shift hard feelings. Try any movement that works for your body. Eat healthy foods and get adequate sleep and rest when you can.
 - Be gentle with yourself. Know that you are not alone in experiencing strong reactions to these events. Don’t despair if you are having a hard time concentrating at work or keeping your cool with your partner or kids. What’s one thing you can do to be kind to yourself today?
 - Seek out and use supportive resources. Ask for support and help from the people, places and programs that are helpful to you.

How do I replace my personal documents?

- Driver's License or Identification Card: Contact your local Department of Licensing (DOL) office or other issuing authority. Visit dol.wa.gov or call 360-902-3900
- Military Documents: Contact the Department of Veteran Affairs at 1-800-827-1000 or TDD/TTY 1-800-829-4833.
- Passport: Visit the U.S. Department of State's How to Apply page.
- Birth, Death, Marriage or Other Certificates: Contact the Department of Health (DOH) at ContactCHS@doh.wa.gov or 360-236-4300.
- Credit or Debit Cards: Contact your banking or credit institution.
- Citizenship Papers: Contact the Bureau of Citizenship and Immigration Services at 1-800-375-5283.

Tip: Reach out to your current employer as Human Resources may have copies of documents you provided during your onboarding process.

This may include copies of your Social Security Card, Birth Certificate, Passport, etc.

Tips and reminders for homeowners working with contractors

The Washington State Department of Labor & Industries (L&I) cautions homeowners to work only with registered contractors, and to obtain three bids for any repairs. Though a homeowner may be in a rush to repair damage, keep these tips in mind to Hire Smart and avoid shoddy work or bad contractors:

- Check whether a contractor is registered by clicking on the link at protectmyhome.net. You can verify whether contractors are licensed, how long they have been in business and see the amount of their insurance coverage and bond.
- Beware of red flags, including contractors who ask to be paid in cash, have a check made out to someone other than the business, or work only evenings or on weekends. Unregistered contractors or scam artists typically use these tactics.
- Don't pay in full until the job is done.
- See more tips and download the "Hire Smart" worksheet at protectmyhome.net. Also on the page are reminder signs in English and Spanish.
- Additional information on recovery from a natural disaster, including reconnecting power to your home, is also available from L&I. Simply go to www.L&I.com, and enter "Disaster recovery" in the search bar, or call your nearest L&I regional office.

Insurance Assistance

- Wildfire webpage for consumers:
<https://www.insurance.wa.gov/wildfires-and-homeowner-insurance>
- Contact your insurance company to report the how, when and where of the damage.
 - Prepare a list of damaged or lost items and provide receipts if possible. You may want to take pictures or video of the damage for additional claim documentation. Do not throw anything away without discussing it with your claim adjuster.
 - Keep receipts for expenses including lodging, repairs or other supplies.
- Besides insurance, there are many questions related to taxes, expenses and determining just how you will recover from a personal financial point of view. For helpful advice, please see Disaster Recovery: A Guide to Financial Issues (A5076), which is available from your local Red Cross chapter.
- The Washington State Office of the Insurance Commissioner's offers assistance on insurance claims regarding natural disasters. They answer questions about the claims process. Unemployment Information

How do I apply for unemployment benefits?

You can apply online (esd.wa.gov) or by phone (800-318-6022). The best and fastest way to apply is online. Using a laptop or desktop computer works best. You can use a phone or tablet, but the service is not optimized for mobile and may be difficult to navigate.

Like most Washington state agencies, the Employment Security Department uses SecureAccess Washington \(SAW\) to manage access to customer accounts. If you do not already have a SAW account, you'll need to create one. If you have an account, you can use that same username and password to access eServices — ESD's online portal.

General unemployment benefits information:

Avoid mistakes that could delay your benefits! Before you apply, go to esd.wa.gov/unemployment to become familiar with the process.

What are unemployment benefits?

Unemployment benefits provide you with temporary income when you lose your job through no fault of your own. The money partly replaces your lost earnings and helps you pay expenses while looking for new work or waiting to return to work. The benefits are paid by taxes on employers and are not based on financial need.

How do I know if I am eligible for unemployment benefits?

You must have worked at least 680 hours in your base year, and you must have earned at least some of your wages in Washington state. Your base year is the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters before the week in which you file your claim.

For example:

- If you file your claim in August 2023, your base year is April 1, 2022, through March 31, 2023.

Find out more: esd.wa.gov/unemployment/basic-eligibility-requirements

Unemployment Information continued

Employment Security Department
WASHINGTON STATE

What information do I need before I apply?

Get all your information ready before you apply, including your:

- Name, Social Security number, birth date and contact information.
- Driver's license information, if you have one.
- Complete work history for the past 18 months including:
 - Employer name(s)
 - Address(es)
 - Phone number(s)
 - Start and end dates of employment for each employer
 - Your bank account and routing number, if you want to sign up for direct deposit.

Find out more: esd.wa.gov/unemployment/have-this-information-ready

What do I need to do after I apply?

- Submit your weekly claims.
- Report honestly.
- Watch for and read any information we send you. If you chose to receive information via eServices, we will email you when we require your attention. Some information is time-sensitive!

What if my worksite was affected by the fires?

If your place of employment burned down or you no longer have work with your employer due to the wildfires, select "laid off" when on the application. The system will then ask for more information about your job separation. You can then select "business closed," "company closed temporarily," "on call or standby with my employer" or "other reason not listed."
